SIX SAILORS RESCUED STORM SINKS VESSEL

NEW YORK, April 15.—Five shipwrecked sailors and the skipper of the abandoned three-masted schooner Nettie Shipman, Capt. Beryl Bradford, of Eastport, Maine, have arrived here aboard the steamship William B. Palmer, after harrowing experiences at sea which included a losing fight with a tropical storm, four days in an open lifeboat, and 22 days existence on an island after being attacked by natives who feared they were Germans before they were picked up and brought home. During this period they lived on sugar cane and fruit.

The schooner, laden with 267,000 feet of lumber, became a derelict three days after leaving Jacksonville, Fla., for Antilla, Cuba, early last February. A tornado snapped her masts and deluged her cargo. Soon the vessel became waterlogged and the captain and crew to the lifeboats.

COVINGTON MAN CITED FOR UNUSUAL BRAVERY

COVINGTON, Tenn., April 15. (Spt.)—News has just been received here through a letter that a list of citations made by Maj. Gen. Duncan, of the 82d division, the following appeared in regard to a Covington boy, Rev. Chesley Bowden:

"Chesley Chesley L. Bowden, 327th Infantry, Co. C, 13th, near Chatelet Cherey, France, this officer, then a private in Company I, 327th Infantry, went over an area swept by heavy machine gun and artillery fire to render aid to wounded soldiers. Upon another occasion he remained five hours in an area which had been gassed and under heavy fire in order to render first aid to soldiers.

"The commanding general takes particular pride in announcing to the command these fine examples of courage and self-sacrifice. Such deeds are evidence of that spirit of heroism which is innate in the highest type of the American soldier and responds unfailingly to the call of duty wherever or whenever it may come."

Mr. Bowden entered the service as a private last June. Prior to his enlistment he was a divinity student in Union university, Jackson, Tenn.

TEN MEN BURNED BY BLAST ON SUB-CHASER

SLAN DEAGO, Cal., April 15.—In a gasoline explosion which sent a torch of flames 100 feet into the air, ten men were burned, two probably fatally, on the United States submarine chaser No. 237, at the municipal pier here yesterday. All but one of the men were attached to the craft. The death was driver of an oil truck from which gasoline was being pumped into a 550-gallon storage tank on the chaser.

Rear Admiral W. F. Pulliam, commanding Division 3, Pacific fleet, was rushed on a boat from the flagship, the Minneapolis, to the pier as soon as the report of the explosion was heard, and reached it before the injured were taken away. He soon ordered an investigation.

It is unofficially reported, however, that the explosion probably was caused by a spark leaping from the "rat tails" or leads of the wireless antennae of the boat.

300,000 Persons Who Value a Dollar Drive a Maxwell

ONE reason—and the main one—why persons change from one car to another after a year's use is this: the cost is too much to keep it running.

A Maxwell possesses the prized virtue of staying out of the repair shop and running and running. This is why:

Raw materials are purchased in large quantities and for cash. Economy No. 1.

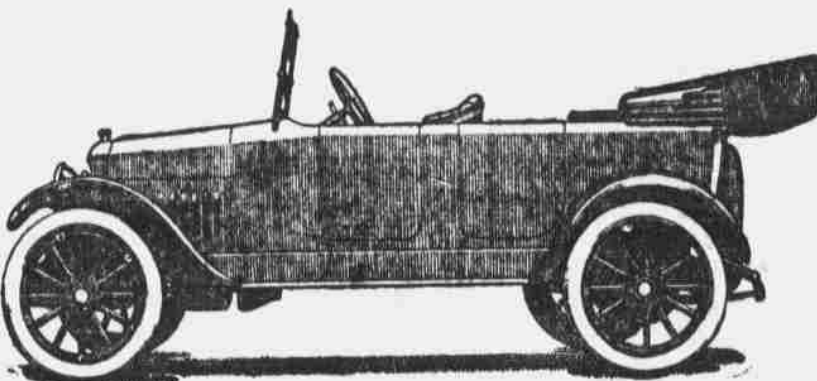

There are no engineering knick-knacks in a Maxwell. Economy No. 2.

The road engineer who spends 12 months a year testing Maxwell cars for weaknesses, and who has driven a motor car further than any living man, finds the "mistakes" before they get into production and are therefore not passed on to you. Economy No. 3.

Maxwell cars are built on the original chassis plan laid down 5 years ago. 300,000 have been built to date. Doing one thing always results in doing it well. Economy No. 4.

All "temperament" is taken out of the car by the engineering department so that it is well impossible to find a Maxwell with an "uneven disposition". Economy No. 5.

There are 25 others. These fortify you against after-trouble in a Maxwell. That is why you can be doubly sure on a Maxwell if you value highly a thrifty dollar. Most persons do, and 300,000 of them drive Maxwells.

Why Men of Today Lack Physical Strength and Endurance Which Gave Mighty Power To Athletes of Old

Physician Says Iron Deficiency in Blood of American Men and Women Is Not Only Greatest Cause to Nation's Health, but Is Often Responsible for Failure in Business, Lack of Will Power and Physical and Mental Decay—Explains

How Organic Iron—Nuxated Iron—Helps Put Renewed Vim and Energy Into the Veins of the Weak, Nervous and Run-Down.

The great power and vigor of the athletes of ancient times was probably due to the rigorous outdoor life they led and the large amount of iron obtained from their coarse food, is the opinion of Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, Men like Hercules, Samson and Atlas were all noted as men of blood and iron, and Dr. Sullivan believes that if the men of today who are fagged out because of worry, work and other strains could follow the same methods of living as the athletes of olden times they might readily build up their strength and energy by increasing the supply of iron in their blood.

In explaining why he regards iron as absolutely essential to the greatest development of physical and mental power, Dr. Sullivan says: "Modern methods of cooking and the rapid pace at which people of this country live has made an alarming increase in iron deficiency in the blood of American men and women. I have strongly emphasized the great necessity of physicians making blood examinations of their patients, and a highly nervous condition due to lack of sufficient iron in their red blood corpuscles without ever realizing the real and true cause of their trouble.

Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man a physical and mental weakling, nervous, irritable and easily fatigued, but it utterly robs him of that virile force, that stamina and strength of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life.

"In my opinion the men of today who want to be strong, sturdy and successful must either live more as did the athletes of old or else supply the iron deficiency in their blood by taking some form of organic iron—Nuxated Iron. I have used Nuxated Iron in my own practice and I know of nothing more effective for building up the system and increasing the red blood corpuscles, thereby enriching and fortifying the blood against the ravages of disease."

Dr. T. Alphonse Wallace, physician of many years' experience and former of the British Naval Medical Service, says: "Living in the open, eating coarse food and leading regular lives make blood rich in strength-giving iron. But this opportunity for building up health is not open to thousands of men and women in civil life whose wearing tasks and iron-impaired foods sap their energy and vitality, make them weak, anemic and run-down and often cause their blood to literally starve for want of iron. Without iron there can be no strong, red-blooded men or healthy, rosy-cheeked women, and unless this strength-giving iron is obtained from the foods we eat it must be supplied in some form that is easily absorbed and assimilated. For this purpose I always recommend organic iron—Nuxated Iron—which I have used with such successful results that I am absolutely convinced of its effectiveness for helping to build red blood, strength and endurance."

Dr. George H. Baker, formerly Physician and Surgeon, Monmouth Memorial Hospital of New Jersey, says: "The fact that Nuxated Iron is today being used by over three million people annually as a tonic, strength and blood-builder, is in itself an evidence of tremendous public confidence and I am convinced that if others would take Nuxated Iron when they feel weak and run-down it would help make a nation of stronger, healthier men and women."

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron, which is prescribed and recommended by physicians, and which is now being used by over three million people annually, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to thoughtful executives. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated and does not irritate the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and satisfactory results to every purchaser who will read their name.
